Headline:
Many places remaining dry today, outbreaks of rain tomorrow.

Today:
Many places starting dry, bright and chilly but then thickening cloud soon spreads eastwards. Outbreaks of light rain may develop, these most likely across the north and west, and especially over the hills. Parts of the south may stay dry. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Tonight:
Mainly cloudy, with outbreaks of rain at first, generally across northern and western areas but becoming more widespread later. Hill fog will develop. Mild. Minimum temperature 9 deg C (48 deg F).

Sunday:
Cloudy with outbreaks of light rain, although the rain may become confined to the Pennines. Hill fog will persist across high ground. Temperatures will be near normal. Maximum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Monday cloudy but largely dry until heavy rain arrives through the evening. Tuesday showers or longer spells of rain. Wednesday windy with heavy, perhaps thundery showers. Mild or very mild.
